THIS INSTITUTION OF LEARNING WAS OPEN—ed under most encouraging asspices on the 12th of JANUARY, 1859. It is proposed to make it a thorough and practical Gymnasium for training the Physical, Intellectual and Moral powers of the Pupils. Upon its success in this it expects to rely for all its Pateriage: It is under the control of no particular Church. The Teachers belong to different Denominations, and are selected on account of their fitness for the posts they occupy, without regard their ecclesinstical connections.

Professor Radeliffe, a graduate of the South-Carolina Military Academy, has charge of the Male Department. In addition to the English, Mathematical and Classical branches, the Pupils have the advantage of the Infantry drill of Military Academies. To secure interest and suc cess in this, we have an ample supply of Cadet Muskets. The Uniform of the Outs is neat, plain and cheap. It is furnished at the Institution as nearly at first cost as practicable. Pupils need only bring their usual wearing apparel. The uniform aids in securing discipline and preventing extravagance. The Drill does not interfere with the studies. It is an excellent discipline furnished our pupils after school hours, without extra charge for tuition or use of muskets.

The vacancy in the Classical Department is merely tem-perary, and we hope soon to be able to announce a Pro-

In the Department for Young Ladies every thing will be considered which is calculated to advance the health, the progress, and the happiness of the pupils.

The sessions are five months in length. The second session will open on the last THURSDAY in August, 1849, and it is very desirable that all the pupils be present at the unening classification. opening classification.

TERMS: - In the Male Department, the charge of tuition a session will be from $10 to $25, according to the age of the pupils and their advancement. Board can be had in respectable families for $10 a month.

In the Ladies' Department: Tuition in the English branches, $20; for any ancient or modern language, $5; Music on the Piano, Organ or Guitar, with the use of the nstrument, $22 50; on the Harp, $30, and $3 extra for the use of the instrument; Drawing, $10; Oil Painting, $20. The pupils can board in the Seminary, and will be charged only from the time of their entrance to the close of the session; and for board, fuel, washing, furnished rooms and attendance, will be charged $2.50 a week. The Tuition is to be paid in advance, and all other bills to be promptly settled at the close of each session.

The pupils in both Departments have the use of Libraries equal to those of some older Institutions; and their Books and Stationery are furnished at New York retail

The Departments are in separate buildings.
